About Export-Import Bank of Thailand

Export-Import Bank of Thailand is a specialized financial institution wholly owned by the Royal Thai Government under the Ministry of Finance’s supervision. The Bank was established by the Export-Import Bank of Thailand Act B.E. 2536 (1993) which empowered the Bank to engage in any financial activities customary to commercial bank practices, except for accepting deposit from the general public. The Bank’s objective is to provide financial services to strengthen the competitive edge of Thai exporters and investors abroad while contributing to the earning or saving of foreign exchange.
